

Earth Futures Festival.

An international film and video festival showcasing the role of geoscience in our sustainable future.

Photo by Katarzyna Gonsior

Sept-Oct 2022.

Sydney + Paris + New York + Online

The festival is a global collaboration showcasing how geoscience is addressing current sustainability challenges through media, with a focus on education, diversity and inclusion.

Calling professionals and students in the realms of geoscience, the arts and science communication along with community groups, associations, school students and First Nations peoples to submit works in video format.

Submissions open 1 Feb 2022 and close 15 May 2022

www.earthfuturesfestival.com

